It is very common for real estate agents to say that you need to come and visit a property to realise its true potential, however in this case it is 100% essential. Sitting in a lofted setting amongst the Almond blossom and overlooking the village of Hondon de los Frailes in the picturesque Hondon Valley you will find this substantial villa with huge potential and ultimately flexible accommodation options if required. The Villa: The villa is basically two villas in one. The main villa is on the upper level and accessed via a unique walkway from the garden area to an inviting porch area.
